

Community Programs: FASD EVOLUTION

Fetal Alcohol Spectrum Disorder (FASD) is a medical diagnosis which can impact the brain and whole body. People living with FASD without support are at risk of secondary challenges.

Enviros FASD Evolution offers support to adults living with an FASD diagnosis.

FASD Evolution is a collaborative program within the community, working with other service providers and agencies to provide services specific to this client group including:

- ▶ Supporting individuals in accessing income support, housing, employment and medical care.
- ▶ Helping individuals who have been recently diagnosed to better understand their strengths and challenges in an effort to develop and enhance strategies specifically for them.
- ▶ Supporting other services in having an FASD informed approach.

Enviros provides practical assistance with:

- Connection to community
- Developing/maintaining positive relationships
- Budgeting
- Time management

To be eligible for the Evolution Program, individuals must have a medical diagnosis of FASD & be over age eighteen.

For referrals, please call, 403.295.2944, ext. 222.

Funded by:

- Calgary Fetal Alcohol Network
